DAVIS THEATRE.

East Lynne, the World's Greatest Love rama, Special Feature Today.

or the first half of this week the For the first half of this week the management of this popular theatre has secured at enormous expense a masterly, conscientious, artistic revival of the greatest love drama of all ages, Blast Lynne, Mrs. Henry Wood's beautiful story of love, hate and ambition, that has stirred the hearts of millions throughout the world. Scores of scenes never before seen in the stage version of this play are in the photoplay production. The natural scenery of East Lynne and the costumes of the early Victorian period are reproduced correct Lynne and the costumes of the early Victorian period are reproduced correct in every detail; the scenes are staged in the beantiful and historic Severa valley, in western England, where Mrs. Henry Wood laid the scene of this immortal remaince so dear to millions of her readens. The cast includes Miss Blanche Forsythe, England's premier emotional leading lady, and Fred Paul, the powerful English actor, supported by an all star company of notable actors and actreases. East Lynne is a fragment memory of the dear old past, dash, sweet, charming, and a play every man, woman and child should see. There are 177 gargeous scenes, three class, sweet, charming and a pay every man, woman and child should see. There are 177 gorgeous scenes, three acts, and 7,600 feet of perfect photoplay. Besides this master production, there will be a selected programme of mutual Movies, including the famous Mintual Weekly and The Gambling Rube, a corking good Keyetone comedy. Massers, Boyle and Craig have a strong concert programme. Mr. Boyle will sing The Two Grenadism, a powerful baritone solo; Mr. Craig will sing Bonny Sweet Bessie, a beautiful Scotch ballad, and the flust in the beautiful sold time song, Love's Old Sweet Song, one of their bast numbers yet. These two big favorites are becoming more popular every day, and the singing is one of the pleasant features of the shows at the Davis. Don't miss the big bargain matinee today at 2.34, Balcony Sq. entire lower floor 10c. Come in and keep cool.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

I Vaudeville and Photoplay Offeringe Today.

Walter Miller, Biograph star, makes his debut in Universal films. To anyone who follows the theatrical and photoplay offerings every week the programme being presented at the Authorium today will stand out as a model bill. Take the programme just the way it runs and see if you can figure out a better one for this type of entertainment.

The show starts with Heart Strings, sty Powers ploture play; nothing remarkable, but a pleasing film leaves you ready for the next which is A Million in Pearls, film is worth noting for two Marter Miller, the former Bio-star, to Universal films, and, because it is a server ond, because it is a two-part Victor ective film that contains a most un-mi plot and one that is plausible in Valveno & LaMore come first on the saude-tile list, and when it comes to conseity account on this team can hold up its end with any act of this kind on the road. They are accomplished agreement and finny comedians.

Then Levine, a next singing comedian, will fit in very nicely with his quiet comedy and good singing voice. The last act is one of the biggest acts of its kind in vandeville, and they consist of an elaborate outfit of scenic musical nevertices. Boutin & Parker in A Tard of Music is the title of the act, and for a novelty scenic musical specialist with for a novelty scenic musical spe-ty with a dash of rural comedy this

Last on the programme we have the one and only Ford Sterling, the highest salaried comedian in pictures, who appears in his own original thousand feet of laughs entitled When Smaltz Loves. For a genuine rib tickler this picture is the limit. What does not happen to Smaltz never here to the picture of the limit. happen to Smaltz never happened.
Anyone who finds fault with this show had better stop going to shows altogether, as nothing would please them.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The Crucible of Fate, Vitagraph, Immense Two Reel Spectacle.

One of the most sensational Vita-graph features that has been shown at the Colonial theatre in some time is the one for today entitled The Cruciof Fate, and is in two parts. It is of a phycician who in the rush of tells of a physician who in the rush of professional duties forgets his young and vivacious wife, who in turn becomes infatuated with a dashing actor and matines idol. They appear in a big society amateur event and it is discovered that the wife really has some talent, and eventually she elopes with the actor and goes upon the legitimate stage. The itinerary of the company includes her home town, and accordingly the doctor arms himself and goes to the production. A fire breaks out and the house is thrown into a panic. The doctor rushes upon the stage and saves his erring wife, and the actor is made insane by fear and perishes in the fire. Other fine features for today are Snakeville's New Sheriff, with Sophie and friends. The Lucky Vest, a brilliant comedy.

An' the wind goes a-wanderin' over
An' talks to the maples an' oaks;
An' the birds an' the bees an' the clover
Git to be like a feller's own folks.

To me you're like prisoners gropin'
In a jail with your own make o' bars.
You have to git out in the open
To git a good look at the stars.
Out here you kin feel the earth spinnin'
Along to the ultimate goal;
Away from your money-mad sinnia',
A man kin develop a soul. An' the sound o' the woodpeckers In the deep o' the lush-laden wood Makes you feel that, whatever may happen.

You're part of a whole that is good.
Somehow, in your sky-scrapin' towers.
You kind o' lose touch with the Plan;
Jut here, with the smells an' the flowers.

God seems purty close to a man.

CHARTLESS.

I never saw a moor, I never saw the sea;
Yet know I how the heather looks,
And what a wave must be.

I never spoke with God. Nor visited in heaven; let certain am I of the spot As if the chart were given. —Emily Dickinson
